2003 - 2023
20 years

In 2003 two dynamic persons, having a long and strong experience in both forwarding and production fields, founded SPEDIZIONI 2003. Our intent is to offer a complete assistance to all our customers and partners, offering our professional and careful service that combines wide knowledge and constant renovation.

We are used to effort Italian and foreign firms that need to import and export their products or starting to enter in the international market.

We cooperate with forwarders that need a reliable partner to develop and get stronger their presence in the international filed.

OUTSOURCING

Our company overturned the general meaning of outsourcing: we chose to offer the best quality of service together with reducing business costs.

Our company is flexible in order to suit our customers' and partners' requirements, being competitive in relation between quality and price and remaining always the only one reference figure for them.

As a free company in a free market we look for the better solution for each shipment.

In Milano area, our location, for example, we have a warehouse that handles all commodities, from a single carton up to industrial supplies, vehicles, dangerous goods, that is also bonded area and is authorized to effect all kind of customs procedures.

We are also able to collect and delivery materials all around Italy.

FULL ASSISTANCE

It means to offer assistance in each step of a shipment: starting from orders' readiness to correct documents' issuing, from studying all aspects of customs, consular, ministerial, insurance, technical requirements, to the suitable way of transport, by sea, by air or by road, for a correct and safe delivery of your cargo up to destination.

We cooperated also with International Fair Authorities and take care of industrial project shipments, situations in which correct document's issuing and on time deliveries are essential points.

Our experience suggested us to realize two new services:

EXPEDITING

Thanks to our experience in both production and commercial fields, we chose to support all figures involved in a shipment. We understand the needs of shippers and consignees, of suppliers and sellers, as well as the forwarding needs. The best way not to waste energies and to reduce extra charges is to coordinate all companies' actions, satisfying requests of all parties.

The correct timing of shipment is a primary point: project cargo such as spare parts supplying, just like top quality products, require a careful handling. This is why our will is to assist all companies in order to show to their purchasers that the quality of shipment underlines the quality of their products.

FORWARDING DESK

Our organisation chose to support its own customers and partners offering them a team of specialist at full disposal 24/24 hours.

This service takes care to develop all technical and specialised aspect of each shipment, allowing companies to dedicate time and energies to develop their own business; we keep away shippers and consignees from noising operational tasks and we work in order to keep all figures involved updated step by step about developments.

We work carefully for you: without any problem you will deliver your products to an exhibition, you will negotiate a letter of credit without remarks and non conformities, you will respect all contract's clauses, without overload your company with these activities that are the main ones of our job.

HQ COOPERATION

In an almost more global and complex world, our company, counter-current, chooses to maintain a high know how level, continuously renovated. Our purpose is to satisfy all requirements of our customers and partners, often underestimated, that become our priority.

To arrange shipments with the utmost attention helps to avoid an increase of charges, dissatisfactions, leading on commercial tensions in relationship customers /suppliers.

For this reason we pay attention to documents, contract terms, timing of shipment, insurance guarantees, allowing a safe handling of each shipment.

We are used to offer a reliable, discrete and reserved cooperation to all these companies that would like to increase the range of services to offer to all their customers, but maintaining an exclusive relationship with them.

TODAY

Our company, thanks to our experience, quality and organization, is able to offer a discrete assistance, step by step, to all kind of firms that would like to get in touch and to operate in the international forwarding field.

We are always looking for reliable companies that choose to cooperate on this way.

Our customer minded attitude enables us to offer a true and interesting reply to all the Italian and Foreign companies, operating in different fields, that are looking to find in the market a professional, reliable and high quality operator for all their logistics and international forwarding services composed on their specific requirements.

We work to suit your needs, be part of our future!
